

ICCA

On May 22nd and 23rd Heidelberg will host the International Conference on Climate Action (ICCA) – a gathering of economic and political elites trying to face climate change simply through improved technology and green economy. We need a departure from the current ideology of growth at the expense of our future and demand concrete actions for global climate justice.

LET'S TAKE "CLIMATE ACTION" INTO OUR OWN HANDS!

RALLY

The global average temperature in the past five years has been the highest on record. The worldwide consequences of climate change are more obvious than ever. The problem has long been known, nevertheless, the necessary measures are still not being taken. However, a new global movement is forming which believes that a system change is necessary for climate protection rather than merely focusing on a green economy.

WE DEMAND A SUSTAINABLE AND JUST SOCIETY AND ARE NOT WILLING TO FURTHER CONDONE THE REFUSAL OF RESPONSIBILITY BY DECISION MAKERS!
